Press Release

NetGuardians announces new partnership with Fintech Group in Africa.

Yverdon-les-Bains the 12nd of May 2014 – NetGuardians, a Swiss company that creates banking anti-fraud solutions based on intelligent behavioral analysis, announces a new partnership agreement with Fintech Group, a Pan-African firm focused on bringing IT solutions and services to financial institutions on the continent.

NetGuardians' solutions stand out not only for their robustness but also for their flexibility to integrate into different core banking platforms, with their NG|Screener solution package for Temenos T24 seeing particular success. The company is building a strong presence in Africa, where banks are actively seeking solutions to improve anti-fraud, risk mitigation, audit and security. Last year, they partnered with SOFGEN banking services consultancy to strengthen delivery capacity, particularly for NG|Screener for Temenos T24. Fintech Group has similar potential to help NetGuardians deliver other packages, especially NG|Screener for Oracle FlexCube.

"Fintech and SOFGEN are now NetGuardians' top partners to reach customers using different core banking platforms," says Olivier Trancart, NetGuardians Board Member and former Executive Vice President and Head of Global Sales and Marketing of I-Flex, the original developers of Oracle FlexCube. "The two partnerships are highly complementary and we are very pleased to have built this collaboration with both companies."
